MIT Technology Review

MIT Technology Review Events bring our award-winning editorial to life. From large-scale annual global conferences like EmTech to Summits that provide a deep dive into a specific technology topic, and more intimate Salons where our community can make meaningful connections and experience technologies in person, we create thought-provoking events that bring our journalism to audiences in person and on video worldwide.

Our entrepreneurial community organization, the MIT Enterprise Forum, hosts over 400 events around the world each year.

Customize your sponsorship with everything from speaking opportunities, signage, and product demos to integrated, cross platform opportunities incorporating digital and print.
